Do you have a view on the...
Welsh Housing Quality Standard?
What does it mean to you?

The Wales Audit Office is examining the progress that has been made to improve peoples' homes and living environments in line with the WHQS and to deliver wider regeneration benefits. We are interested to hear from residents in homes owned by local authorities or housing associations in terms of their views on the general quality of their housing or about work that may have been undertaken to bring their home and wider living environment up to the Standard.
